Hull Dock Laborers Create a Riot of Large Proportions

Howling Mobs Capture the Streets Belfast—Ogangemen and National-ists Fight Over Constables' Heads,

By Telegraph to The Times.

LONDON, April 23.—[By Cable and Associated Press. Ten acres of tim-ber sighe Victoria dock, in Hull, are ablaze. The fire is supposed to have been started by the striking dockers. The fire is extending from the timber yard and threatens to destroy the warehouses near by. The Citadel Hotel was burned. All the telegraph wires in the district are down, and railway irons melted. Marines and sailors from the two gunboats anchored in the roads are helping the firemen. The timber yard in which the fire started is owned by the Wade Company, who employ non-union men. A large portion the crowd of spectators made no concealment of their delight at the progress of the fire. They threw stones and other missiles at the soldiers, fremen and police. Some went so far as to cut the hose pipe. At last reports a detachment of dragoons was protecting those who are fighting the fire. The value of timber and other property now in danger is £1,000,000, Three other fires were started by in-cendiaries in Hull this evening. All

Long-drawn-out Fight in Hull-Many Injured. Loxpon, April 28 .- | By Cable and Associated Press.] The police of Hull arrested a drunken docker last evening. A mob of strikers stopped them on the way to the station. The police fought them off and sent for reinforcements and, by the time the latter had arrived, more than two thousand men had gathered, armed with stones, clubs and a few revolvers. The police drew their batons and clubbed right and left, and divided the mob so that the officers with the prisoner could proceed to the sta-tion. After the drunken striker had been removed, the others charged the been removed, the others charged the police repeatedly. They forced them into the side streets, where they rallied again to the attack. More police were called out, and more strikers were attracted by the uproar. The wounded men on both sides were carried away, and the strikers obtained a new supply of boat hooks, cudgels and split planks and the strikers. cudgels and split planks, and the strug-gle was carried into every street and alleyway. ORANGE RIOTS.

Mobs Capture the Streets of Belfast-Troops Called Out. LONDON, April 28.—[By Cable and As-sociated Press.] Orange riots broke out in Belfast last night and continued intil late this morning, and were especially severe in the notorious Sharkhill district. At midnight an Orange mob put out the street lights, and shortly afterward attacked a tavern kept by a Roman Catholic named Connelly. smashed in the windows and doors, ooted the storerooms and liquor vault, drove out Connelly and his family, and endeavored to burn down the building. The police were out in force, and be-fore the mob could get the fire well started drove them off and extinguished the flames.

The rioters then tried to invade the Catholic quarter, where the National-Catholic quarter, where the National-ists were celebrating the second read-ing of the Home-rule Bill by burning tar barrels. A strong line of policemen held them back. A crowd of National-ists gathered, and the two parties stoned each other over the heads of the constables. The conflict became so hot that eventually the police were obliged to drive back the two mobs by repeated GEO. H. KELSEY. manager.

UNION PACIFIC'S DEBT.

Views of Western Newspaper Men Upon the Question.

ons Why the Government Shoul Allow the Road to Be Sold-Bensfits the West Will Derive from a Sale.

By Telegraph to The Times. NEW YORK, April 23.- By the Associated Press. Edward Rosewater editor and proprietor of the Omaha Bee, and a member of the Republi can National Committee, has been in the city several days, one of the ob ects of his visit being to collect figures regarding the Union Pacific Railroad lebt, with which Congress will have to deal next winter. To a Herald reporter Rosewater said "The Pacific railroad debt will mature within three years: Its adjustment is discussed in Congress after Congress, but no definite conclusion is reached. Congress next winter, however, will be forced to take action in the matter, The most feasible proposition for Congress is to let the road go to foreclosgress is to fer the road go to foreclosure under the first mortgage, and take its chances on recovering the money advanced by the Government. Should the road sell for $33,000,000, some of the money advanced would undoubtedly be lost in the money has been the first the money and the selection. be lost in this way, but what of it? the road would be cleared from all the complications which have burdened it for twenty years, and it could successfully compete with other roads, thus greatly benefiting the people as a result of reduced rates. Besides, the development of the Western country would more than nay back to country would more than pay back to or the difference between that advanced and what would be lost as a result of the sale. Unquestionably, private in-dividuals and stock-jobbers have been fattened at the people's expense, owing to Union Pacific deals, but all possibility of that would be stopped by a foreclos-ure of the property. I think this view will be largely in accord with the sen-timent in the West, though some of the at first. At all events, the time has arat first. At all events, the time has arrived for a settlement of this Union Pacific business, which concerns not only the West, but large interests in the East, and it should be intelligently discussed before the problem is submitted to Congress next winter.

Poisoned Soldiers the Leading News Topic at the Islands.

Defenders Uninjured. Political Changes-Commissioner Blount is Interviewed as to His Mission and Indulges in Sarcasm.

By Telegraph to The Times. SAN FRANCISCO, April 28.—[By the Associated Press.] The barkentine Irmgord arrived from Honolulu tonight, bringing advices up to April 12. The leading event since the last letter to the Associated Press was the supposed wholesale altempt to poison soldiers and members of the National Guard. On the night of April 11, thirty soldiers at the barracks were taken with violent vomiting spells Surgeon Rodgers was hastily summoned and found that the men showed symptoms of irritant poisoning. The men were so distressed as to be obliged to take to their cots. In the meantime a report came from the government building, where Company A, National Guard, is stationed, to the effect that a number of men there were suffering with severe fits of vomiting. Dr. Day was summoned, and relieved the men as speedily and effectually as possible THE BILL OF FARE.

*Capt. Good at the barracks said the men had dinner at 0 o'clock. The bill of fare was roast beef, boiled tongue, canned peas and fresh vegetables, with tea and coffee. He could not account for the trouble. He had eaten dinner at the barracks, but he had escaped illness. The men laid the blame to the boiled tongue, and did not hesitate to accuse someone in the employ of the Royalists of an attempt at poisoning, but when questioned further they admitted having eaten green peas, which might have been green peas, which might have been diseased. Others thought the poison had been placed in the tea or coffee, but several men who had partaken of the liquids mentioned, and who had not eaten anything but cake or bread, said they felt all right. It was pretty gen-erally agreed after awhile that the peas were the cause of the trouble, but afterward it was found that no canned peas, but dried, were served at the meal, leaving the matter still unexplained. NO SERIOUS RESULTS. Five Chinamen are employed in the ritchen and Government building, but no suspicion is attached to them. In all about sixty men, thirty at the barracks and thirty in Co. A. National Guard, were rendered unfit for duty, but most of them soon recovered, and none are of them soon recovered, and none are likely to suffer permanently or fatally. Much mystery surrounds the affair, and it has caused a great sensation. The royalists very indignantly deny the existence of a plot to destroy the government forces in this murderous manner, and there is, so far, no general desire or intention to hold them accounts. sire or intention to hold them account able. The most charitable and very natural theory is that the poisonous liquids were accidentally administered with canned or other foods, and until the mystery is thoroughly solved the public, for the most part, is quite willing to take this view.

At the time the barkentine left an inand members of the National Guard atelast night at the same table and symptoms of illness appeared in the same manner, and about the same time in the members of the two bodies of troops. THE VACANT THRONE.

The flutter of excitement caused by the return of Paul Neumann and Princ David, envoys of Liliuokalani to Washlngton, has passed away, and has left nothing apparent as a substantial re-sult of their mission. Three times, in as many days, the report has been circulated that the day and hour had been fixed for the restoration of the Queen, but up to the present writing the throne lacks an occupant, as it has any day since the eventful 17th of January. The Queen's party does not appear more hopeful with the continued delay, but still insist that the only thing which the United States can do is to restore the status quo ante.

Mr. Thurston, it is now expected, will remain in Washington, as Hawaiian Minister, to succeed Mott Smith, whom the provisional government has asked o resign. Chief Clerk Hastings, of the, Foreign Office, is prominently mentioned for the Consul-Generalship at San Francisco. The published statement that United States Minister Stevens would relinquish his position and return home on May 24 is a further source of gratifi-cation to the anti-annexationists. The name of his successor is awaited ,with anxiety. BLOUNT'S SILENCE.

The Associated Press correspondent

called on Commissioner Blount again and asked if there was any truth and asked if there was any truth in the report that he intended leaving for home on the steamship Australia, which leaves April 26. Mr. Blount replied that there was no truth in it whatever. "My length of stay here is indefinite. It may be two months and it may be three months."

Among other-things, he said: "If I were in the States, I frankly say to you, I would talk more freely, but here I do not wish to assist in propagating rumors."

GREAT BRITAIN'S NAVY.

Many New Ships to Be Completed the Present Year.

Number of First-class Battle-ships, Pro tected Cruisers and Torpedo Gunboats to Be Added to the Fleet,

By Telegraph to The Times. HALIFAX, April 23 .- By the Associated Press.] Interesting informa-tion comes from England regarding great additions being made to the imperial navy. It is understood that many ships are being built, but it is not known to what extent the British navy will be strenghtened this year.

The Admirality has decided that within the next twelve months the following new ships are to be completed and passed into the fleet reserve ready for sea: Five first-class battle-ships, the Empress of India, Repulse, Ramil-lies, Resolution and Royal Oak, each with a displacement of 14,150 tons. engines of 13,000 horse-power and a speed of 17.5 knots, with an armament consisting of four 13.5 inch breechloading guns, ten 6-inch and twentyeight smaller quick-firing guns, besides machine guns and torpedo tubes.
Two other first-class battle-ships, with displacements of 10,500 tons.

engines of 18,000 horse-power, a speed of 25 knots, and heavy armament. Six first-class protected cruisers, the Crescent, Endymion, St. George, Gibralter, Crepton and Theseus, of 12,000 horse-power each, a speed of over 19 knots, and armaments of two 9-inch breech-loading guns, ten 6-inch and various quick-firing and machine guns are also to be put in service. Then there are to be three second. class protected cruisers, the Campria, Artrasa and Bonaveture, each of 9000 horse-power, a speed of 19.5 knots, with armaments of two 6-inch and Hotchkiss and machine guns and tor pedo tubes.

There will be ten first-class torpedo gunboats, the Antelope, Dryad, Hazard, Hebe, Leda, Onyz, Reward, Speedy, Jasour and Niger. The Speedy will have engines capable of developing 4500 horse-power, giving a speed of 20.25 knots. The remainder will each be of 3500 horse-power, and of 19.25

Last year two first-class battle-ships, four first-class cruisers and a number of smaller vessels were added to the fleet reserve, while during the previous year only one first-class battle-ship, one firstclass crulser and several smaller vessels

An express train running between Santiago and Valparaiso was wrecked last night. The engine, with two cars, fell twenty-seven feet. The cars took fire from the lamps, and it is reported several persons were burned to death. It is not known whether the accident was due to train-wreckers or a defect in the roadbed. ROME, April 23 .- By Cable and Associated Press.] Shortly after noon the German Emperor left the Quirinal for the residence of Herr von Buelow, the Prussian Minister, where he took lunch with Papal officials. Prior to the audience with the Pope, during luncheon, the Emperor chatted cordially with Cardinal Leodochowsky. At 2 o'clock Empress Augusta Victoria arrived at the legation and immediately after the Emperor, Empress and suite, and Herr von Buelow proceeded in the Prussian court carriage to the Vatican. Italian troops were drawn up in line on each side of every street through which the imperial party passed, and hehind the soldiers were packed cheering thou-sands of Italian citizens. The Vatican was filled with high dignitaries of the church and representatives of the Cath-olic nobility of Italy. Their majesties were received in Cleminstine Hall by Mgr. New York, April 23.—[By the Associated Press. The convention of the American section of the Theosophical Society met here today. During the last year nineteen new branches have been instituted in this country, making a total of seventy-seven branches on the American roll. There were 584 counsels during the year. The most important matter to come before the opening session was the report of S. E. Wright of Chicago on arrangements made to secure a hearing for theoso-phy before the World's Religious Con-gress. Wright read letters from the World's Fair management offering the World's Fair management offering the Theosophists every facility for being fully represented, and setting September 15 and 16 as days for their special gatherings. An advisory committee was appointed to prepare for the same congress. In the afternoon a meeting was held, and papers on esoteric subjects read.

A Scrimmage Results in Injuries to the Former. DENVER, April 23.-[By the Associated Press. Advices from Green River, Utah, tell of a scrimmage between the cowboys employed by Knowles & Co. and Navajo Indians, in which two cowboys were injured, "Kid" Johnson, the leader of the boys, was one of the wounded and will probably die. The Indians, from time to time, have raided the herds and taken many head of cattle to their reservation, and the cowboys finally agreed to stop the plunder by meeting and fighting the Indians. The battle resulted as above. Another fight occurred on the 9th, between a prospector named Conneil and several Indians, at a place near Dirty Devil, in which two Indians were killed. Connell is said to have sold whisky to the Indians, and they im-bibed much of it, and became hostile.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23 .- [By the Associated Press. | The Los Angeles club defeated Oakland twice today, winning the morning game at Pied mont by a score of 11 to 5, and the afternoon contest in this city by a score of 10 to 8. In the first game Oakland and the lead up to the seventh inning. when the Southerners made six hits against Griffiths, making half a dozen runs. Only eight innings were played in the morning game. In the second contest the hitting was hard on both sides, with Los Angeles having a little the best of the slugging, and Glenal vin's men put up better fielding than the Colorels. These two victories give Los Angeles a majority of games won in the series. The following are the scores, morning and afternoon: MORNING GAME.

Surely this must be the turning point. To beat Oakland two games in one day is certainly glory enough. Just keep up this "lick," boys, and all will be for-The Angels are next booked for Stockton, where they begin next Thurs-day and play four games. The boys ought to capture three out of the four, if not the whole series.

The San Francisco Post says George Borchers is pitching on trial and has not yet been signed by the Los Angeles management. As he was engaged management. As he was engaged at $150 per month and was paid $200 advance money it is reasonable to suppose that the "trial pitching" will last about thirty-seven days, at any rate.

The Boston Globe rises to remark as follows: "According to the new rules a player is not counted at the hat when a player is not counted at the bat when edited with a sacrifice hit. This rule vague and indefinite, and will give less President Young instructs his offi-cial scorers on this point. A sacrifice hit should count only under the follow-ing conditions. First—With a man on and no one out. Second-With a man on second and no one out. Third-With a man on third and no one out "In the first instance the idea is to prevent a double play being made and aking chances that a base hit may bring the run home. In the second in-stance the idea is to put the player on bring him home. No sacrifice hit should be scored unless the ball is intentionally dumped around the infield without an attempt at a base hit. As the rules now read a player can get a sacrifice hit with one out and a man on first or second base, which is always an accident, as no player would attempt to put a man on second or third with one out."

sions last week. The following vigor ous language is used: "The protest filed by Manager Robinson regarding Umpire McDonald's decision during a Umpire McDonaid's decision during a recent game between Oakland and Los Angeles will not stand. Robinson made the protest on a misunderstanding of the rules. Collopy was at first base and Earl at second, when O'Neill made an infield hit, the ball going toward Glenalvin. Collopy ran into the ball, interfering with the play of the Los Angeles second baseman. Collopy, under the rules, was declared out, and Earl, who had advanced to third, was ordered back to second by McDonaid. It was on the latter decision that the Colonel made the protest. The rule covering the case will be found in Spalding's official guide for 1893. It is section 12 of rule 47. It says that a base runner rule 47. It says that a base runner shall be declared out 'if a fair hit ball strike him before touching the fielder, and in such case no base shall be run unless forced by the batsman becoming base-runner, and no run shall be scored or any other base-runner put out." In the play of yesterday, under the above rule, the runner who was forced by the batsman was Collopy. Earl was not en-titled to advance to third base, and Mc-Donald made a correct ruling when he ordered the Oakland first baseman to retrace his steps.

'The managers of the California League should have learned a lesson from the trouble created by protests last year. If a team has been outrage ously wronged by an umpire, and his rulings materially affect the result, then it is proper and just to seek redress from a meeting of the managers; but, when some petty point is decided against the loser, it does not seem sportsmanlike to endeavor to get the game on a technicality. Baseball is a game to be played on the open field, not in the secret session of managers. The game should hinge upon base hits and rules. The game was fairly and squarely won by Los Angeles, outside of the sixth inning, and an unclouded victory should be placed to the credit of Lindley's team." nelding, not upon hair-splitting of the President Cleveland Denies Several Newspaper Rumors.

The Chief Executive and His Cabinet Absolutely Harmonious—The Troubles the Administration Has to Contend With,

By Telegraph to The Times. WASHINGTON, April 23 .- [By the Associated Press.] To a representative of the Associated Press the President said: "The inclination on the part of the public to accept newspaper reports concerning the intentions of those charged with the management of our mational finances seems to justify my emphatic contradiction of the state-ment that the redemption of any kind of treasury notes, except in gold, at any time has been determined upon or contemplated by the Secretary of the Treasury or any other member of the present administration. The President and Cabinet are absolutely harmonious in a determination to exercise every power conferred upon them to main-tain the public credit, keep the public faith and preserve the parity between gold and silver, and carry out all the financial obligations of the Government, while the law of 1890, forcing the purchase of a fixed amount of silver every month provides that the Secretary of the Treasury, in his discretion, may redeem Treasury, in his discretion, may redeem in either gold or silver treasury notes given payment for silver purchases, yet the declaration of the policy of the tween the two metals seems so clearly to regulate this discretion as to dictate their redemption in gold. Of course perplexities and difficulties have grown out of the unfortunate financial policy which we found in vogue, and embar rassments have arisen from the invar-vised financial legislation confronting us at every turn, but with a cheerful confidence among the people, and a pa-vistic disposition to cooperate, the rassments have arisen from the ill-ad. threatened dangers will be averted, pending a legislative return to a better and solider financial plan. The strong credit of the country is still unimpaire and the good sense of our people which has never failed in a time o need, is at hand to save us from dis aster."

Departure of the Fighting Fleet for New York.

The Caravels Left Fortress Munroe Yes terday-Preparations for the Trip-Stormy Weather on the Atlantic Coast.

Bu Telegraph to The Times FORTRESS MONROE, April 23. - [By the Associated Press.] Twenty-seven shipsof-war will sail from here at 9 o'clock tomorrow for New York. There has been no rest for Admiral Gherardi today. Signal flags have been running up and down from the yards of the Philadelphia, and blue-coated messengers hurrying in launches from ship to ship. Several times today he has been upon the bridge of the Philadelphia viewing with anxious eyes the gathering clouds and wondering if the gale would abate. The forbidding weather is unfortunate for the crowds, who, with the earliest morning boats, began swelling the already numerous colony

On the Washington boat came Sentators Butler, Gray and Gibson of Maryland, and Representative McMillin of Tennessee. Arrangements have been made for these gentlemen to go around e fleet t quartered on the San Francisco, along with the representatives of the press. Nearly every ship will have a number of civillans and correspondents. Secretary Herbert passed a quiet day. By invitation of the English Admiral be attended the services on the Blake, and afterward inspected the ship. On his return to the Dolphin, the Secretary entertained some friends informally at luncheon, and then came ashore.

The Spanish warships with the caravels left this morning. Late this aft-ernoon, however, the sea outside was so rough that the fleet anchored in Lynn Haven until the wind abated.

With the arrival of the three Bra-zilian ships, late this evening, the entire foreign contingent are accounted for except the Russian Vice Admiral, which is still among the missing.

An' sweep yer dusty soul of gloom.

Sweep ol' idees out with the dust. An' dress your soul in newer style.

Scrape from yer min' its wornout crust
An' dump it in the rubbish pile.

Sweep out the hates that burn an' smart, Bring in new loves serene and pur Aroun' the hearthstone of the heart Place modern styles of furniture,

Clean out yer moril cubby-holes,
Sweep out the dirt, scrape off the scum;
'Tis cleanin' time for helthy souls;
Git up an' dust! The spring hez come!
Clean out the chrners of the brain,
Bear down with scrubbin' brush an' soap,
An' dump ol' Fear into the rain,
An' dust a cosey chair for Hope,

Clean out the brain's deep rubbish hole, Soak every cranny great an' An' in the front room of the so Hang pootier picturs on the wall, scrub up the winders of the mind, Clean up, an' let the spring be Swing open wide the dusty blin An' let the April sunshine in.

Plant flowers in the soul's front yard,
Set out new shade and blossom trees;
An' let the soul once froze and hard Sprout trocuses of new ideas,
Yes, clean yer house an' clean yer shed,
An' clean yer barn in evry part;
But brush the cobwebs from yer head
An' sweep the snowbanks from yer heart!

Significant Gossip from the East About the Pecos Valley.

The Ending Up of Pollasky's San Joaquin Scheme.

The Santa Fe-Atlantic and Pacific Ru mor-The Terminal and Their Employes-Local and Personal.

Every so often a rumor is started 're garding the preposed consolidation of the Southern California and the Atlantic and Pacific railways, with General Manager K. H. Wade in charge of both. Since the day Mr. Wade departed for Chicago the story has been floating about, with no tangible form.

Though it is known to be the policy of the Santa F6's present management to economize by consolidating various links of the system, there is, as yet, no authority whatever for the statement that Mr. Wade has been placed in charge of the Atlantic and Pacific, as the system of the Swedish throne about ten years and is still a young woman, the mother of two handsome books. floating about, with no tangible form. Though it is known to be the policy of charge of the Atlantic and Pacific, as well as of the Southern California Without denying the possibility of what may come to pass, it can be stated that there was no authority whatever for the double-leaded story printed yesterday.

THE PECOS VALLEY. The United States Investor recently ontained an item telling of the sale of the bonds of the Pecos Valley Irrigation and Improvement Company, amounting to $5,000,000. They were sold mainly through the efforts of J. J. Hagerman of Colorado Springs and Charles Eddy of Eddy, N. M. The proceeds of the sale are for the extension of the Pecos Valley Railroad, from its present terminus, at Eddy, to a point on the Rio Grande and El Paso road, a part of the Atchison, Topeka and

Santa Fé,
The point of interception will be in San Miguel county, in New Mexico, near where the latter road crosses the Rio Pecos, some thirty miles (from thirteen to nineteen is the true dis-tance) south of Las Vegas. The pro-posed extension from Eddy to the given point on the Santa Fé will be about two hundred and fifty miles in length. De-velopment in the Pecos Valley makes it a rich and desirable section, and the new line will pass through not only more of the same irrigable valley, but through a great stock country and some mining regions.

That the Atchison, Topeka and Santa

Fë people are taking an interest in the Pecos Valley line is shown by their undoubted intention of extending their Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fé line from its present terminus at San Antonio, Tex., northwestward to Pecos City, there to connect with the southern terminus of the Pecos Valley road. It is consistently predicted that the two extensions will be completed at about the same time. Thus, the Pecos Valley line, 850 miles long, may practically become a part of the Santa Fé system.

By this arrangement, the Santa Fé By this arrangement the Santa Fé will be able to give Galveston, Houston and Southern Texas a new route to California by way of the Atlantic and Pacific. From this point of view the contemplated lines are of vast import-contemplated lines are or vasi; import-ance and have more than a local sig-nificance. Such a route from Galves-ton, via Temple, San Angelo, Pecos City (Las Vegas) and Albuquerque to California, is about three hundred miles shorter than that of the Southern Pacific Pacific. The plan is far-reaching enough to suggest direct connection with the traffic over the Mallory and Morgan steamship lines from New York to Galsteamship lines from New York to Gal-veston, and calls to mind the fact here-tofore noted in the Investor that the Santa Fé Company was planning to dispute supremacy with the Southern Pacific in the San Joaquin Valley in California. It further means the more rapid development of the western counties of Texas, and some of the hitherto intouched resources of New Mexico. MARCUS POLLASKY AGAIN. The Examiner says: "The Pacific Imagainst the San Joaquin Valley Railroad to collect fourteen promissory notes, aggregating $404,000, and to collect $28,500 for labor furnished. This suit calls to mind the ubiquitous Marcus Polwho built that road. He came to and promised to give Fresno a compet ing line. The people of that city aided him in building the road, and in the course of a few months they had a new road running in a northeasterly direc-tion out of the town toward the mountains. But the road stopped there, and Pollasky rested on his oars for nearly a year. He then quietly sold out his stock to the Southern Pacific Company and departed hence.

"Pollasky did not have any money of his own, but got his money from Col. Fred Crocker. The latter gave him $404,000, taking his notes for the same, and these are the notes now being sued on by the Pacific Improvement Company, to whom Col. Crocker as-signed them. The Pacific Improvement Company was, in fact, the power behind the throne in building the road, and, as charged at the time, but denied by Pol-lasky, he was in reality sent out here by Mr. Huntington to get a free right-ofway and stand before the public as the projector and builder of the road. He got well paid for his work, and then went back East. The sult is expected to give the Pacific Improvement Company absolute possession of the road.' RIGHT-OF-WAY FOR SAN DIEGO AND TUMA.

A Programme of Unusual Excellence the Auditorium

A programme of unusual interest wa presented at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon. It included, besides severa selections by the orchestra, two voca solos by A. W. Hare and an address by Rev. F. M. Larkin of the Centra Methodist Episcopal Church.

The speaker had chosen for a subject Daniel, the Principled Office-holder. In beginning, he alluded to the fact that in no other country than America are there so many opportunities fo success, and, consequently, so many chances for failure. He cited severa instances, showing the manner in which men have become famous, and said that the large number of young men who were likely to become office-hold-ers would find no character in that line better to study than that of Daniel.

The speaker gave a beautiful descrip tion of the ancient city of Babylon, touching upon its famous gardens, its exquisite works of art and its many other wonderful features. He then told of the circumstances under which Daniel was brought there, and the position which the young man held in the King's palace. He paid an eloquent tribute to the character of Daniel, and to the decided manner in which he performed what he believed to be his duty. Daniel might be called one of what are known in American politics as "dark horses," but in such cases the man does not rise to great prominence all in one moment. A divine hand has guided his actions all through life and prepared him for through life and the sudden change.

Continuing, the speaker alluded to the fact of a committee of a certain association of this city having called upon Chief Glass of the police force, and requested him to pursue a more lenient policy toward some of those guilty of violating ordinances. The action of the Chief in refusing to grant such request was one which should meet with the approval of aff good citizens. "If any organization," he said, "tries to take him away from his position on such grounds, then it is a disgrace to that organization, and, if effected, a disgrace to the city." [Applause.] isgrace to the city." [Applause.]

Prayer, the speaker said, is not only for women and children. It is strong men as well. Examples of this strong men as wells. Examples of this may be seen in Wellington at Water-loo, in Washington at Valley Forge, and in Lincoln between the perplexities of a great national crisis.

Thought They Were Robbers. One of the younger men among the city officials, together with a friend, had an amusing evening adventure two or three days ago.

It was late at night, and they had been walking along Temple street, and had turned southward on Edgeward road. On reaching the next corner of that street with another street two men were seen to reach the corner from the west just ahead of them as they came orth. One of the men walked back toward the from the north. city official and the other man, after which the two latter fled, it is told, in an inglorious flight. Reaching engin house No. 3, on Temple street, the aroused the inmates and gave the alarm stating that they had just escaped be ing held up. Shooting appliances were secured, and with these reinforcements they returned to the place where the supposed highwaymen had been seen. An investigation disclosed the fact that both of the supposed bold bad robbers were only unoffending Germans, searching for the residence of a certain man who could converse with them in their native tongue. How the young man on whom the joke had fallen settled with the firemen for their unnecessary trouble has yet to be learned.

Could such an incident as this happen in any city other than New York? On the Wednesday preceding Good Friday a Broadway restaurant keeper entered the store of a Broadway florist "Good morning, neighbor," he said "How much are violets a bunch?"

One dollar a bunch. "How much would they be by the tousand bunches?"
"One dollar a bunch." "Can you supply me 500 bunches to Haul Down the American Flag-Press Opinion on Blount's Action.

HAULING DOWN THE FLAG.

[New York Press]
Every enemy of American ideas and epublican institutions, every foe of the American name, every upholder of the divine right of monarchs to misrule by brute force, will rejoice at the deliber. ate insult offered by Grover Cleveland to the American flag at Hawaii. Nothing was omitted on the part of the administration to make the insult complete. All possible publicity was given to the act. Notice had been given of the hour at which it was to be per formed in order to secure a multitude of witnesses of the formal humiliation of the symbol of the Republic. The gallant marines of the Boston were drawn up to see the disgraceful lowering of the flag that no foeman has ever been able to conquer or to dishonor. The one man selected from a great nation by the President to order the hauling down of the Stars and Stripes at Hone lulu was a Bourbon ex-Confederate, who fought to tear down the American flag and trample it under foot, and whose hostility to American ideas and interests has apparently not abated since he bore arms against the Nation. It is no wonder that the latest ad-vices from Hawaii are filled with the indications of coming conflict. It is no wonder that the adherents of the de-praved and barbarous "royalty" that has plundered and oppressed the Hawaiian people so long are beginning to plot insurrection and massacre in the full belief that the Government of the United States is on the side of despot ism and corruption. No amount of shallow and half-hearted excuses on the part of administration organs can make the hauling down of the American make the hauling down of the American flag appear otherwise than a gross and deliberate betrayal of American interests and a cowardly affront to the American name. That flag stood for American institutions in all that the term implies. It stood for freedom. It stood for progress. It stood for education and civilization. It stood for cation and civilization. It stood for material development and enduring prosperity. It represented the forces of conservatism and intelligence, as against the forces of tyranny and heathenism. It floated over a territory American in everything but name; a territory that had been brought from savagery to enlightenment by American energy; genius and enterprise; a territory which is inseparably identi strategic considerations with the Amer ican Republic.

The Stars and Stripes had been raised in Hawaii at the urgent reques of the substantial and progressive element of the Hawaiian people. This element was chiefly of American line age, speaking the tongue of the Repub lic, imbued with its traditions, desirou to become united with it in government, as well as sentiment. These men, the descendants of the missionaries and the companions of the missionaries, to whom Hawaii owes the civilization that it possesses, had a right to expect that the protection of the American flag not be withdrawn from their families and their homes. They had a right to expect that they should not be abandoned by the Nation which was bound by every consideration of morals and of honor to defend their lives and fled by geographical, commercial and their property from the forces of an-archy and barbarism.

President Cleveland and his advisers have outraged the patriotic sentiment of the whole Nation by their shameful affront to the Nation's flag. They have placed American interests in the Pacific in imminent danger; they have invited riot and bloodshed and the armed interference of European powers in the Hawaiian Islands; they have lowered the dignity and degraded the prestige of the American Republic in the eyes of the civilized world. For the results of their policy of cowardice and treachery the Nation will hold them to

MR. BLOUNT'S STATUS.
[New York Commercial Advertiser.]
Is Mr. Blount an officer? Or is he a rentleman in private life?

The public was surprised in reading Mr. Grover Cleveland's letter (for it has not the marks of an official act) to Pro visional Governor Dole to observe that it does not impart any official character to Mr. Blount. It does not name him 'Commissioner for the United States, rhich was the official designation of N P. Trist. the commissioner appointed under President Polk to negotiate a treaty of peace with Mexico in 1848, nor a "Special Envoy of the United States," which was the official status of Mr. Trescott when he was sent by Pres ident Grant in 1811 to confer with the South American belligerants, Peru Chili and Bolivia. Mr. Cleveland styles Mr. Blount "My commissioner," of whom "I have made choice," to make a report to "ME"—not to the Government, nor to Congress, even to "Th President"-but only to "ME," etc.

Both Commissioners Trist and Tres cott were appointed through the State Department, and made their reports to How can Blount be a commissione f no commission under the seal of the out the advice and consent of the Sen ate? The Constitution authorizes as appointment "by and with the advice and consent of the Senate" of "am bassadors and other public ministers and "all other officers of the United States whose appointment is not other wise provided for." If Mr. Blount wa so appointed, then Mr. Cleveland wrote inaccurately and committed a discour esy toward Blount in his letter to Dol in styling him "my commissioner." If he was not so appointed then the whole proceeding is "unconstitutional, usurp-atory and discourteous to Gresham" and to the Senate.

Is it not time that somebody should administer to Mr. Cleveland a few lessons in good manners? HAWAII REDIVITUS.

[New York Commercial Advertiser.]
The opportunity of "hauling down the American flag" must be a very grateful privilege to the old "Confeds" who are now marching in the front ranks. They didn't get near as much of it They didn't get near as much of it as they would have liked between 1860 and 1865, and it must taste rather well to them even now, though, of course, not so appetizing now as it would have been before they were obliged to fill their crops with the coarse meal of reconstruction. The impulse was to say "repentance," but that would not have fitted, for those gentlemen have never fitted, for those gentlemen have never yet taken in and assimilated anything of that kind. The whole Hawaiian attitude of the administration is a most curious one. It might be understood that the action of Mr. Harrison's administration was not such as Mr. Clevening taken itself, had the occasion when the sense of having taken itself, had the occasion when the sense of having taken itself, had the occasion when the sense of having taken itself, had the occasion when the sense of having taken itself, had the occasion when the sense of having taken itself, had the occasion when the sense of having taken itself, had the occasion when the sense of having taken itself, had the occasion when the sense of having taken itself, had the occasion when the sense of having taken in and assimilated anything face British sold the Indian army.

Either Mr. Cleveland agrees with Mr. Either Mr. Cleveland agrees with Mr. Harrison's purpose to accept the offer of annexation or he does not. If he does, it displays a small potato spirit to hazard the aim and end in a finical finding fault with the means employed before his-time, especially as those means had been acquiesced in by practically everybody except the deposed Queen.

It is in the province of the Executive and the Senate to make treaties, and, though the treaty is not made till the Senate acts, the executive branch of the Government had acted on this mat ter and exhausted its power in the premises before Mr. Cleveland became President. When the proposed treaty life or death, on every principle of equity and fair dealing, lay with the Senate, and there alone.

Besides all this there is an offensive personal tone in Mr. Cleveland's utter ances to the Hawaiian officials. We used to hear much about "the man on horseback," but here is some far more arrogant personalism in office, and this time the exhibition is by a man who is not even dignified by ever having been "on horseback." He shows only his own personal platitudinous strut.

STIRS THE BLOOD.

[Kansas City Journal.]
The removal of the American flag and the ordering of the mariners, back to the man-of-war Boston at Honolulu will be very hard for Mr. Cleveland to explain. The flag is not as mere party rag, like a nomination for an office, but represents the Nation, its sovereignty, its traditions, its honor and its faith. Has Cleveland allowed it to be dishonored before the world? If so, he has committed the sin for which there is no committed the sin for which there is no condonation. We can see no excuse, no apology, no palliation. The act is not that of a statesman, it is not an executive act, statesman, it is not an executive act, but it is an act of usurpation and a humiliation of the Nation before the world. The flag was there by the usage of nations, had been recognized and saluted by all powers of the world there represented. It was there by assent of Congress, for no act is of record in either branch awar disapproximation. in either branch even disapproving The only question ever raised was as to the form of protection or possession it should represent. We fail to see any way out of this action; except one of dishonor to the flag, and a wanton dis-

OLD GLORY. The pettifogging and hair-splitting pologies of the administration press for the hauling down of the American flag on the Sandwich Islands will not excuse or palliate or take the stain off. The act was unnecessary and uncalled for. If Congress had refused to annex the islands or to establish a protector-ate, it would have been high time then to have withdrawn the flag. While there it was wronging no one, insulting no one. It was only a proclamation of good will and of the natural alliance that exists between this country and the only dominant and civilized ele nent on those islands .- [Detroit Jour

But although the flag, which never ought to have been raised in the man-ner employed by Mr. Stevens, is down again, and although the marines, who are no longer needed ashore to protect the lives and rights of American citi-zens, are aboard ship again, the Ameri-can protectorate in fact remains.—

Queen Victoria and Emperor Wilhelm speak of "my ambassador," or "my consul." Grover Cleveland speaks of "my commissioner." The acts of that commissioner are in disparent of commissioner are in disregard of the sentiments of the people of the United States.—[Chicago Inter Ocean.

AMY'S SECOND DECREE

Amaryllis Stowe Webb Again Divorce from Her Husband The following from the San Fran cisco Examiner of Saturday will be of interest to Los Angeles people, the persons referred to having formerly resided in this city, where they fre quently exploited their domestic difficulties in the papers. ction of the Local Union Carpenters Not in the Fold-Lo-Chicago.

A committee of the local organiza tion has issued an "appeal," from which the following extracts are taken: Dear Sirs and Brothers: We, the members of Carpenters' Union No.

332, of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America banded ourselves together, order that we may better serve the best interests of our trade. . . A "ROUND-UP" WANTED

A careful inquiry reveals the fact that the carpenters of this city are practically unanimous in favor of an eight-hopr day. Then here is an opportunity. If they all want it and make their wishes known in a united demand, they will get it, of course. Now, what could be easier than a round-up of the carpenters of this city in a solid body with a single purpose in mind? We want eight hours. Can we et it? We can, certainly, if we get in body together. We cannot get it while we are separated from each other without any organization. We cannot get it individually; no advance ever was made in that way by any class of men. We cannot get it by contend ing against each other. We cannot get it by simply wishing for it. We cannot get it if we wait for the other fellows to join the union and get it for us. You cannot get it without my help, and I cannot get it without your help. But all of us together can get it, if each will add his strength to the movement. We issue this appeal to the men, that they may know that it is generally agreed upon by the members of the craft that now is the time for the inauguration of the eight-hour day. Every carpenter in the city is in favor of it, and wants every other carpenter

Very few, or perhaps none, of the contractors in this city would object to a thorough organization among the journeymen. This may seem impossible to some at first, but when explained it be-comes clearly to the interest of the contractors themselves. A strong union would keep wages at one point. The contractor would rather have it that way, so he would know that no one bidding against him could get his men for any less than union wages. This would benefit the contractors by crowding out those numerous "one-horse" contractors who take work so low they cannot pay good wages, and thus injure the con-tracting business. The carpenters might, if they would get together, put themselves in a position to meet the bosses half way on any question affect-ing the trade. The painters do this. A friendly understanding and mutual good will obtains between their bosses and journeymen-all on account of or

COME IN OUT OF THE RAIN.

No better time for this movement could have been selected, as a season of prosperity is evidenced on every hand. We would incur absolutely no risk if we would make this demand unanimous. Let every carpenter lay aside his per-sonal feelings and come into the union and out of the rain. Let us make a brilliant success and be able to command the respect of a discriminating public. Each one should bear in mind that trades unions are learning, as well as other bodies of men, and shall make the failures and mistakes of the past the stepping stones of success for the future. No narrow-minded, selfish coercion is tolerated for a moment in the new unionism of today.

A CHANGE OF HEART-"OTHERS HAVE RIGHTS.

We recognize that others have rights while we are contending for our own. We feel convinced that a fair and honest investigation of the union and the eight-hour demands will enlist every carpenter in the city under its banner.

Every carpenter should make it his duty to speak his sentiments to his fel-low-worker and get this, eight-hour movement ringing in the ears of every carpenter in the city. Let us remember that the shorter day is no longer an untried experiment. It has been in opera tion for years in Australia in all branches of industry, even to day labor-ers, and also in many parts of our coun-The carpenters are but tardily falling in line with the other trades.

AN OBSOLETE OBJECTION. The old objection to a shorter day, that the men would spend the extra time in the saloons is entirely unwar ranted. It cannot be shown that the painters are more immoral now that they are working eight hours. In fact it must be evident that the workers would take a foremost position in public edu-cation if they did not have to work on

COME UP AND PAY UP. And so, brother knights of the sav and hammer, we call upon you to come and lend your influence and assistance in establishing the eight-hour day. Come and join the union; you will be pleased with the instructive proceedings of the meetings and you will be serving your own individual interests that can be done in no other way. "United we stand, divided we fall." Come and stand with us. Keep constantly before your mind that unless all can show a large membership in a bona fide organization we have no hope of success

NOT SO EASY. Objections to Nine Hours' Pay for Eight Hours' Work. [From Trade, April 22.]

Eight hours' work for nine hours' pay Have you ever realized," said a business man yesterday, "what eight hours' work for nine hours' pay means?" posing a factory employ fifty hands at $2.50 a day, which is $18.89 an hour for nine hours' work. Therefore, eight hours' work means giving each an 27% cents a day, the fifty men $13.87% a day, or $4162.50 for the three hundred working days in the year. But that is not all. In order to turn out the same amount of output the manufacturer must make up this one hour by hiring one new man for every eight men, or six new men for the fifty men. The six new men, at $2.50 a day, cost $15 a day, or another $4500 for the three hundred working days, a total of $8662.50, or 17½ per cent. extra cost on an output of $50,000. If the manufacturer does not make up the lost time by hiring the new men, his pay-roll has, nevertheless, increased $4162.50 a year, while his output will have de-$13.87 3 a day, or $4162.50 for the creased 9 per cent. because of the one hour in every nine granted the men. It means again, additional space or addi-tional machinery for the six new men which represents another 8 per cent. at least. Thus you see that the demand for nine hours' pay for eight hours' work, which looks so innocent on its face, amounts to 20 per cent. extra expense on the cost of the goods, when the average profit is only about 6 per cent.

A Warning Not to "Strike Against the

If they should decide a strike, they would scarcely hope to escape the condemnation of their fellow-citizens in other trades and of their American felow-countrymen in general.

The World's Fair managment met them at the outset squarely and truthfully. They agreed to the eight-hour day, when many intelligent people thought in so doing they endangered the fair itself. They insisted on all contract work within their own control being done on like time. The highest scale of wages the market allowed has been naid from the beginning to the level of th been paid from the beginning to the la-ber employed in Jackson Park. Car-penters, lathers, plasterers, painters, masons, bricklayers, finishers are re ceiving from $3 a day up to $8. Under one of the frrational rules of trades unionism the most expert man receives no more than the stupid, the untrained or the lazy. When trades unionism reaches its philosophical stage this senseless regulation will be abrogated. The skillful, the industrious and the exand skilling, the industrious and the experienced will be graded in pay as they are in skill and industry.

In this country today mechanical labor is the best paid of all ordinary employments. It is better to be a carpenter than a doctor of corresponding degree of experience and ability. Many lawyers find it difficult to earn enough lawyers find it difficult to earn enoug their first five years to support a fam-ily. The artisans of the United States have been the pets of the lawmaking power. Every request that was within reason that they have made of legislatures has been granted. While the labor of all European countries, whether under free trade or pro tection, is today quarreling with governments and with employers, the labor of the United States, possessing the fullest political privileges denied to its brethren in many European States, is practically master of the country; and intll the Ann Arbor decisions had not encountered snags even in the courts. The sympathy of the people generally has been with many of the strikes that have taken place; invariably with those that were founded on justice.

If hot-headed and vain leaders of the carpenter's union at this critical stage in the progress of World's Fair work should mislead the men into a strike, they may depend upon it that their action will be looked upon as unpatriotic, cowardly and treacherous to the World's Fair. The fair is very dear to the people of Chicago. Their honor is involved in having it as nearly complete as possible by May 1.

The principal labor remaining to be done is that of installation of exhibits. It is almost exclusively carpentering. Raw hands cannot do it. The fair will be opened cannot do it. The fair will be opened May I at all hazards. It is not in the power of strikers of any class to put off the opening. The discredit some of their demagogues would willingly inflict on Chicago is beyond their power. What they can do is to embarrass exhibitors and disappoint visitors by baffling the splendid efforts now making to hasten installation and get the build-hasten installation and get the buildhasten installation and get the build-ings in order for the general public. American exhibitors, will not seriously American exhibitors, will not seriously suffer. They can procure cases from their own homes. Foreign exhibitors will be the sufferers, and the hospital-dry promised them in the Nation's name will prove a mockery.

Only one week remains after the day of the carpenters' mass meeting in which installation can be blocked before the opening of the fair. The car-fore the opening of the fair. The car penters have no ground for a strike.

They are earning higher wages than is paid to the cabinetmakers or wood carvers. It is claimed, and with some truth, that necessaries are costing more than three months The artisans are the only whose increase of wages already makes them indifferent to increase in prices. No other class of working peo-ple have had increase of pay, yet they must meet as best they can the higher cost of living. The management of the fair cannot comply with the demand for the discharge of non-union workmen. They cannot comply for two reasons. The fair cannot be completed without them, for there are not men enough to be had without non-union. The second reason is that, the fair being a national institution, it is not lawful for agents of the United States Government to discharge citizens of divernment to discharge criticals of the United States merely because they have exercised their rightful individual liberty, and not entered or have withdrawn from labor unions.

It is to be hoped, for the reputation of American labor, that the meeting of the carpenters next Sunday afternoon will refuse to commit the treacherous act of striking against the Nation, for that is precisely what a strike against the World's Fair management at this crisis will be.

AN AWFUL "ROAST."

A Disgusted Chicagoan on the Sitnation in That City.

He Says the Election of Carter Harrison Practically Means Anarchy, and Adfor Their Own Protection

The recent municipal election in Chicago, which resulted in the election of Carter Harrison, was the most bitter in the history of that city. The entire press of Chicago, with the exception of the Times (Mr. Harrison's personal property.) was arrayed against him, on the ground that he was the candidate of the gamblers, toughs and lawless element generally. Despite this oppo-sition, however, Mr. Harrison, was suc-cessful, receiving 115,000 votes, a very healthy plurality, to say the least, and since the election he has been amusing himself by reprinting in his own paper the uncomplimentary things said of him by his contemporaries, a unique revenge, and one original with himself. On the other hand, the people who were opposed to Mr. Harrison's election do ot seem disposed to drop the fight, and the feeling is evidently as bitter as it was previous to the election, as will be seen by the following remarkable letter received by a gentleman in this city from a well-known citizen of Chicago:

from a well-known citizen of Chicago:

CHICAGO, April 14, 1893.

We have just gone through an election for Mayor, and the result is humiliating. The gamblers, thieves, ex-convicts, dive-keepers, saloon men and dead-beats have elected Carter Harrison, the man responsible for the Anarchist murders—a fit representative of the people who would be benifted by a general fire or anarchy.

There is no protection now, and no punishment for crime. People are sand-bagged and robbed in daylight, burglarles occur nearly every night, with the chief of police preaching or lecturing to the saints, while the police are extorting money from the fallen women. I regret the situation is so desperate, but we have published to the world the condition, and people must come prepared to protect themselves. It is unsafe today for any one alone at midday to go near the Santa Fé depot, Polk street and Dearborn. Tell your friends to arm themselves when coming here. and Dearborn. Tell your friends to arm hemselves when coming here.

While the letter is doubtless grossly exaggerated, it indicates the depth of the feeling against Mayor Harrison by at least one section of the community of which he is the chief executive, and cannot but have a bad effect on the city. That Mayor Harrison feels the effect of this sentiment is shown by the following extracts from his inaugural message, delivered before the Board of Aldermen in which he pays his respects to the press of the city over which he presides:
"Aldermen of the City of Chicago: foully slandered and shamefully abused by a reckless press, but sustained and honored by 115,000 of the free and in-dependent voters of Chicago, that 115,-000 composed of all but a few sore-head Democrats, and composed besides of the best elements of the Republican party, men who believed in fair play and honest endeavor, men who believed in business interests being protected-I stand before you again for the fifth stand before you again for the fifth time chosen to be the Mayor of Chi-

"In standing thus I feel a deep anxiety lest I may not fulfill the expectation of the vast majority of my fellow-citizens that have honored me. All I have to say to you, Aldermen of Chicago, and others, too, of its citizens, is that my endeavor will be always to further the interests of this city, of which I am so interests of this city, of which I am so proud—to this city which I entered when it was but an overgrown village and which I now enter into the management of as the great and most successful giant of the West. [Applause.] It will be my endeavor to justify the wishes of the suffragists that placed me here, and I earnestly ask your comparation. Alderearnestly ask your cooperation, Alder-men, in helping to wipe out the slander that has been thrown upon our good name by a venal and corrupt press.

"It has been spread broadcast over this land, and has even crossed the briny deep, that the electorate that has chosen your chief magistrate is an electorate of thieves, thugs, gamblers and disreputables.' We stand before the world with a black mark upon our characters. Let it be your and my ch-deavor. Aldermen, to wipe this slander out and prove to the world that Chicago is a city governed by the best and that its Mayor and its

Council govern it on principles of bus-iness and respectability.

"Under the charter I am a part of the endeavor to cooperate with you, and I earnestly ask you to cooperate with me, in proving to the world that this city, that has been honored by having placed in its midst the Columbian Exposition, is a city that deserved to have that exposition placed here. I earnestly ask of you, Aldermen, to cooperate with the Mayor, as the Mayor pledges himself to Mayor, as the Mayor pleages nimself to cooperate with you, in showing and proving to the world that Chicago is not only the second city of America in population, the first city of America in pluck and energy, but is a city of good government, of honest and fair dealing, and that the world can come here and feel that its pockethook is afterwhile it feel that its pocketbook is safe while it stays in our midst."

A Times reporter visited the jail shortly after the doctor arrived, and found the physician impatiently pacing up and down the corridor, apparently ill at ease and not a little surprised that he should be placed under lock and key as though he were a criminal. When asked if he cared to make a statement, Dr. Burnett replied that there was but little to say, as, never having been subpœnaed as a witness in the Bentley case, the fact was patent that in going up the cafion on a pleasure trip he had committed no offense, and he had committed no offense, and had not evaded the law in any particular. He was emphatic in his assertion that he was not subpœnaed, the statement of Detective Lawson to the contrary, notwithstanding. The fishing party, of which he was one of the members, the doctor said, had been planned weeks before. It was true that he had been subpenaed on the preliminary examination, and thought it probable that he would be again called when the trial came up, but he was not, although at the time of his departure for the mountains all of the other physicians had been. The natural inference to be drawn was that his testimony would not be required. So the mony would not be required. So the party was made up and started for the San Gabriel Cañon. At this season of the year the water is very high and crossing difficult. Dr. Burnett and his companions were two days in covering the distance of thirty miles from Azusa to the Coldwater branch of the cañon. There they camped and proceeded to enjoy the sport of fishing and hunting. The pack burros were turned loose and allowed to wander at will to feed in the underbrush. Deputy Sheriff Bowler, who was dispatched on an order of the Court to serve an attachment on Dr. Burnett, reached the camp late Thursday evening. After learning that he

Burnett, reached the camp late Thursday evening. After learning that he was wanted as a witness on the following morning, the doctor immediately set about making preparations to answer the summons. Nearly the whole of Friday was consumed in hunting the burros, it being late in the evening before the animals were found. Not being able to travel down the dark and rocky canon at night, through the torrent of water, the party waited until the next morning (Saturday) and began their return trip. In the mean while, Deputy Sheriff Bowler, receiving the doctor's assurance that he would follow down without delay, hurried back. Naturally, being mounted on a strong, large mule, he could on a strong, large mule, he could travel much faster than the doctor, who depended on the slow-going burro as a means of Ctransportation. The seance by Miss Anna Eva Fay at

After some introductory remarks by the doctor, a committee, committee, to the first of Dr. K. D. Wise and Judge Hatch, was named by the audience, and those gentlemen proceeded to the stage. The cabinet used was about six feet high, six feet wide and three feet deep, and had a sliding curtain in front. Miss Fay had her wrists bound with strips of cloth, which were sewed and sealed, and she was then seated, while her wrists were secured to an iron ring in an upright wooden stanchion behind her.

The cabinet was then placed about wooden stanchion behind her.

The cabinet was then placed about her, and a long cord was tied to her ankles, while the other end was held by one of the committee. A banjo, a mouth organ and a tambourine were left in the cabinet, and the curtain to it was closed, when instantly musical and other sounds proceeded. The cabinet being opened, Miss Fay seemed to be bound as firmly as ever.

Several other similar performances were given in about the same manner, during one of which one of the committee remained in the cabinet with her, though with a handkerchief over his head. The cabinet was removed and a box was fitted up closely about her, through the top of which her head protruded. Through a hole in front, covered by a small curtain, a supposedly gheatly hand would pass the "spirit messages." A knife was passed through the same hole, and in a moment the box was removed and the medium was free, her bonds having been apparently cut by the same knife.

BOISE CITY SWINDLERS. The Gang Known in Los Angeles—Previou

An Associated Press dispatch from Boise City. Idaho, published in yester-day's Times, detailed the smooth buncoing scheme of a business firm in that city, which was disclosed to the author ities by an intercepted letter, post-marked, Los Angeles. The dispatch also indicated that a firm of swindlers had banded together, and were working an extensive confidence game in differ ent parts of the country.

It was discovered yesterday that a It was discovered yesterday that a prominent firm of attorneys in this city had for some time been employed in a case where one of this same firm of Early & Co. had swindled a Mormon cattle dealer out of nearly two thousand head of cattle in Kansas City, where he was met by one of the Earlys, who represented himself as a wholesale cattle huyer. Early contracted to buy cattle buyer. Early contracted to buy the herd, and paid the owner $500 on account. Almost imme-diately thereafter the smooth swindler sold the drove for about $30,000 and skipped. For awhile his whereabouts were unknown, but he was finally traced to Los Angeles, where he is reported to be now living, hence the retention of the Los Angeles firm of attorneys to prosecute the matter.

Other members of this firm were once in business for a short time at Chico in this State. Similar operations to those pursued in Boise City were adopted, San Francisco wholesale merchants being the principal sufferers. The Board of Trade of the latter city made an investigation, but so slick were the swindlers that no positive evidence against them could be adduced. Next they moved to Carson, Nev., but here again they successfully escaped being caught. Their next change was to Boise City, but here, according to the dispatch referred to, they have come to the end of their rope.

TAVE you purchased a Cape vet? You are not in style if you have omitted this important duty. We have them ready-made for $5, $6, $6.50, $7, $7.50, $8, $8.50. $10, $11, $12.50. If you prefer it, we have Broadcloths from $1 up to $3.50 a yard; Serges from $1.50 to $2.50; Foule Serges, $1.50 to $2.50; fancy cape materials, 75c, $1 and $1.50. A Butterick pattern, a little time and patience, and you, will soon be in the fashion. All the big Eastern retailers are exhibiting capes and cape materials. White Broadcloths for opera capes The Dress Goods Counter has more than the usual activity these days. The new fashion sets the ladies all agog. There is no making over a narrow skirt into a wide one, and where is the lady who wants to wear a narrow skirt while the big ones are all the craze. There is a twinkle here and there of new ideas in the Dress Goods Department to surprise and delight you; prices have been gone over, and little points here and there have been made in your favor. Dress Goods more easy buying for economical shoppers; all wool and excellent styles at 50c a yard; plain and fancy weaves, whipcords, Serges, Henriettas, diagonal Bengalines, plenty of the Scotchy effect, 50c, 60c, 65c, 75c; nice new checks, as neat as a pin, for 75c, 85c and $1. Moderate prices for economical buyers, and who does not want to be classed as an economical buyer? India Silks, 65c, 75c and $1; probably the largest stock in the city. New Wash Dress Goods at 8 c to 35c a yard; the cloth is new, the patterns are new; you will recognize their newness at a glance. Elegant Wash Goods, 20c and 25c; more than ordinary good style—the very cream of the season's work. Laces are the proper thing for trimming, and we have them in large quantities. The graduated width cream, ecru, beige, black, white, to match almost any color in green, blue, tan, pink, red, the new lace effects of the season. Children's French Caps, Mull Bonnets, ladies, misses and children's Sunbonnets, 25c, 50c, 65c, 75c, $1, white and colored. The Millinery Trade is now at its best, and what a rush there is at simes. Finest Trimming in the city; moderate prices: you get the style at a reasonable price. Why go into expensive head gear when a little look will show you that a fine hat can be had here for $5. AT THE CHURCHES.

Eloquent Sermon by Rev. Mr. Bugbee of St. Paul's.

May Not Un for Yourselves Treas ures on Earth" the Text.

Mission Services at the Central M. E. Church.

Potter's Work Among the Colored People of the South-Kip Memoria Services at St. John's Tomorrow Morning.

Rev. George F. Bugbee, rector of St Paul's Episcopal Church, preached a found in Matthew, sixth chapter, nine-teenth and twentieth verses: "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth," etc.

Asynopsis of the sermon brings out the following points which were clearly demonstrated: The gaining of wealth is the instinct of human nature, the inspiration of progress of the indusbegins to accumulate property he begins to rise, for wealth gives him far more enjoyment, increases his sense of beauty and order, of intellectual graces, of appreciation and refinement. Therefore if God made wealth to mean development and civilization it cannot be wrong to accumulate property, and to deprive man of the privilege would be to take away the grand stimulus of labor. What, then, can be the meaning of the text? The laying up of earthly treasure is a truth, specific and limited, and the pursuit of riches past a given point means the loss of its power to uplift and benefit man. The great mischief in regard to riches is its unlimited pursuit. Only a few men ever learn that wealth is their servant, but we have some men of large sympa-thy, our best men, who have kept their virtue, their worth and their character in the face of fierce temptation, in Wall street and in the stock exchanges of great commercial centers. In this text God simply meant to harness the truth with limitations. The gathering of treasures is so fascinating a pursuit that it is apt to be carried entirely beyond reasonable limits. And so from natural experience and the divine word we gather that God teaches that it is right and a duty to work and save and accumulate just as much earthly treasure as a man can honestly, but he must not make riches the supreme, absorbing ambition of his life. A man's sorbing ambition of his life. A man's treasure is not always money. It may be fame, position, power, pleasure, place, a person; anything which he supremely desires.

As we come into life bringing nothing, it is certain we can take nothing with us in a worldly sense, but we do with us in a worldly sense, but we do, come-into life bearing the germ of spiritual treasures—a mass of possible developments, and when we go out of life we carry vastly more than we brought into it. After a long life experience we take through the grave with us those germs of character, of reason, of conscience grown to a high sense of honor as to right and wrong sense of honor as to right and wrong, of affection, of disposition—all developed, purged and refined.

The man who has built his love so

The man who has built his love so reaching up as to include. God and so reaching down and out as to include all humanity has laid up treasure in heaven. He comes down to the grave full freighted with soul-wealth, though a pauper, and all his soul treasures survive the grave. He is crowned and robed and sceptered by the Master a king and priest unto God forever. CENTRAL METHODIST.

The services at Central Methodist Episcopal Church were conducted by Mrs. Potter yesterday morning, who spoke in the interests of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, giving a very interesting epitome of the Work which The Celebrated French Cure, has been and is being done by the society among the colored people and the poor white people of the South, the Indians, the Mormons of Utah, and the Chinese in California. She made many chinese in California. She made many strong points in support of the work for home missions, arguing that our first duty is to our brother and neighbor with whom we come in daily contact. We must reach these poor people by the little every-day acts of kindness and manifestations of the Christ love for our fellow man. Orphysis, home must our fellow man. Orphans' homes must be established to save the neglected children of vice, for if they are not saved now, they will be the inmates of our jails and penitentiaries in the

The pastor announced the Epworth League District Convention to be held in Central Church on Friday next, April 28, to which all are invited. Exercises commence at 9 o'clock a.m. IN MEMORIAM.

Tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock there will be a memorial service in St. Paul's Church in memory of the life and services of the late Rt. Rev. William Ingraham Kip, D.D., bishop of California. The clergy of the Episcopal Church in Southern California generally will take part. There will be a celebration of the Holy. Eucharist and an address on the work of Bishop Kip by the Very Rev. Dean Restarick of San Diego. In the afternoon the clergy and laity will meet in St., Paul's Parish Hall to discuss the advisability of ish Hall to discuss the advisability ish half to discuss the advisability of electing an assistant to the present bishop, Rt. Rev. W. F. Nichols, D. D. Bishop Nichols, in making the official announcement of the death of the beloved bishop, speaks these fitting words:

words:

The venerated bishop of the diocese passed into the more perfect peace of paradise soon after midnight on this morning of Friday in Easter week. He rests from labors that round out two score years of a pioneer episcopate. He has departed to be with Christ in all those depths of bis serene and gentle character. The good example, for which we bless God's holy name, has been the more signal from the fierce light to which it has been subjected in his long public career. California and San Francisco have lest one that has ennobled their history with his life. The gentleman, the citizen, the scholar, the bishop, have had from him a worthy interpretation to his diocese, and to the whole church, in which his was the next episcopate in age to that of the presiding bishop.

RELIGIOUS NEWS.

RELIGIOUS NEWS, One of the features at yesterday's services at St. Vincent's Church was the offertory piece sung by Miss Bertha Roth. She did the beautiful and difficult composition full justice, and was supported in a masterly manner by Prof. Lewinski, who played the violin obligate with consummate taste and skill, as did also Prof. Wilde, who presided at the grand organ.

The average number of business women who gather daily at the First Presbyterian Church parlors is thirty. The rooms are now open also on Satur day evenings.

Rev. Burt Estes Howard gave a splendid discourse yesterday morning the text of a large congregation, from the text of the text, "I am the way." The public evening service here is short, closing at about 8:40, and followed by an aftermeeting of fifteen minutes.

They Were Excited. A stormy conversation, parts of which were plainly audible to passers-by, took place in a First street saloon a few nights ago. The subject was city pol the inspiration of progress of the indus-trial life of man; that which sets him above the animals, for man alone, of the Council and two liquor men. From the tones of the disputants it seemed all the animal kingdom, has the desire that the Councilman was most wrought and ambition to gather property; it is the mainspring of his progress, whereas

On the Road to Success!

TUMAN existence is, after all, very like a tortuous country road, with slopes to climb and valleys to leisurely travel, with here green fields of plenty to enjoy and there marshlands of temptation and danger to avoid, and with crossroads and "four corners" every now and then to confuse and possibly to mislead the traveler. Some of us fail to climb the hills, some fall asleep in the valleys, and still others wander off and are lost in the marsh's morasses; but to the great majority of mankind the crossroads are the only really difficult points to be passed.

"What studies will I take?" asks the school child.

"What trade or profession will I follow?" says the youth.

"How can I best win success?" says the These are the crossroads we all encounter, and these are the places where most of us go astray. Blessed is the man who chooses the proper path at these various junctions. "Luck" may have been his guide, and his less fortunate neighbors are prone to say so, but investigation and experience teach that the only reliable helps at these difficult points are-knowledge and work.

Knowledge is a burden to no one. Like the air you breathe, your knowledge proves its existence, not by apparent weight and color, but by its effect. How often have you found the information you acquired by casual observation or study to be of great specific advantage in a crisis whose possibility you had not dreamed of when you acquired that knowledge. Then if knowledge is to be your guide in the pathway of life, is it not worth your while to secure the greatest, the best source of human knowledge extant, when that source is, by American enterprise, placed within your reach? In the ENCYCLOPEDIA BRITANNICA the child will find matter to interest his little mind and give him food for thought along the line of his natural bent; the youth will find life stories and professional and mechanical information to enable him wisely to choose his life work, and the adult will have his mind broadened, his intellect quickened and his information extended to such a degree by it that he will be enabled to take the advantage of opportunities that he otherwise would not see. Thus it is a guide board for all. The Encyclopedia Britannica is the WISDOM OF THE WORLD concentrated. It should be in every home. TIMES readers can secure this Great work at the unheard of rate of

The Visitor is Advised to Spend Summer Here, ments All Along the Line-Hap penings of a Quiet Sunday-What About the Board of Trade?

The so-called winter season is drawing to a close, and the tourists who have enjoyed our sunshine and flowers during the six months are preparing to return to their eastern homes. It is surprising how comparatively few of the visitors who have delights of Pasadena's winter climate know anything about the summer veather. The impression prevails among who have not tried it that the atmos pnere simmers and sizzles around here in uncomfortable fashion from July to October. The fact of the matter is that the summer months are the most enjoyable part of the year here from a climatic standoint. There is a constant round of sun shiny days, and only occasionally does the mercury in the thermometer rise to a dizzyheight. Occasionally there are morning fogs, which clear away early and leave the atmosphère cool and bracing for the balance of the day. Early in the afternoon a brisk sea breeze sets in and continues until evening, when it retires in favor of equally invigorating ozone that blows down fresh from the mountains. No matter how hot it may get in the sun, a shady nook is all that is necessary to afford relief, and the nights are always cool,

Pasadena, moreover, is supplied with a wealth of summer attractions that cater to shiny days, and only occasionally does the

that cater to taste of all classes and conditions The near-by mountain canons furnish delightful resorts for picnickers, and on their summits are well-equipped camps, where the tourist or invalid may while away the long summer days in thoroughly enjoy-able style. Switzer's once famous camp, located in the heart of the mountains, is to be reopened this summer under new man agement. This is an attractive spot, and agement. This is an attractive spot, and, continuing beyond and over the summit, the traveler will find himself meandering along the banks of the west fork of the San Gabriel River, where he can spend a week catching trout. Santa Monica, Redondo and Long Beach are attractive seaside resorts within two hours' ride, while thirty miles out at sea looms up the beautiful island of Catalina, with its wealth of all-the-year-round attractions.

The above merely hints at the possibilities which this country and climate afford for spending a pleasant summer, and the people who journey-East in the expectation of finding something better, make a mistake, a fact which they will never appreciate until they have spent one whole year here.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.

In no way, perhaps, is the progressive spirit that pervades Pasadena's public affairs made more manifest than in the matter of street improvements. Two years ago the attention of the Council was seldom the attention of the Council was seldom called to a petition for such work, but now petitions galore come in at each meeting of the board, asking for the grading, curbing and guttering of thoroughfares that have long been neglected. A great many men and teams are engaged in this work all over town, and the results are most satisfactory as the property-owners are willing to testify. The same state of affairs exists in the matter of cement sidewalks, which are being laid everywhere, either by order of the Council or voluntarily on the part of the property-owners. At the last meeting a numerously-signed petition was received, asking that cement sidewalks be ordered laid on both sides of Colorado street between Fair Oaks and Lake avenues, a distance of over a mile, and this is but an instance. It is getting to be quite the fad also to petition for the laying of branches to the sewer main, and it will not be many months before property on all of the principal residence thoroughfares will be drained directly into the sewer. ed to a petition for such work, but now

WILL IT LIVE OR DIE? This is the day set for the annual meeting of the Pasadena Board of Trade, an oring of the Pasadena Board of Trade, an or-ganization that has not figured conspicu-ously in public affairs of late. The mem-bership is not nearly as large as it should be, and only a small proportion of the members manifest any interest whatever in the affairs of the board. In a town that is growing at the rate Pasadena is, it would portunities for such an organization to dis tinguish itself. Something, however, fails to conacct at present, and as the few of, ficers and members are getting tired of bolstering up the wreck of a once vigorous body, the organization may possibly col-lapse today unless the attendance indicates nore general interest in its welfare. 50 PER CENT. Exoltement Over the Snyder Trial—The

There has been considerable excitement lately, during the progress of the Snyder case, over the allegation that various persons connected with the case went into who had evidently prepared themselves for the search.

Some facts developed by the cross-examination helped the defendant's case. Mr. Sayder stands firm by the accounts, which show him to have been nearly $4000 better off at the time of the fire than he was when he took the hotel in February, 1892, about a year before the fire.

An error of $1000. in the footing of the claims alleged to be due the defendant, was brought to the latter's notice yesterday, and both he and Mr. Hosmer, who made up the account, promptly acknowledged it, while disclaiming any previous knowledge of it.

passed a very creditable examination before the State Board of Pharmacy, at its recent meeting in San Francisco.

Your correspondent will have to acknowledge being worsted in the discussion concerning the proper title to be given to Santa Barbara's recent of Flowers.—The reasons that Mr. Hazard advances for calling it the Flower Festival are probably better than can be set forth for calling it a Floral Carnival. At the same time there is something more to be said regarding the relative appropriateness of these two words. While it is true that the word "carnival," in its original derivation, literally means "Farewell to meat," the two words are, nevertheless, synonymous in their intent and usage, for this "farewell to fiesh," crystallized lute word form, represents the recent meeting in San Francisco tent and usage, for this "tarewell to fiesh," crystallized into word form, represents the season preceding Lent, in Catholic countries, which is given up to feasting. The word festival means, literally, a season of feasting. Therefore there is no essential feasting. Therefore there is no essential difference between the two, and neither one is exactly fitted to celebrate our own springtime celebration, when people are so given up to esthetic interests that they are more disposed to neglect the wants of the body than to give the appe-tite due attention.

Tracing the words back to their use in the classic ages, there is again little choice between them, except that the word carnival appears to be of less ancient origin. Indeed, it seems to be of purely modern origin. In feestivals of the Romans were marked by gluttony, licentiousness and Bacchanalian revery. The testivals of the ancient Greeks were of a higher order, and here is perhaps the best justification of the name in our own application of it. Yet when we consider the relative dignity of the terms in modern times, it must be acknowledged that a festival has come to have a very petty meaning, indeed, in this country. On the other, hand, while the carnivals of Sonthern Europe have been degraded by reckless sport, the word has country. On the other hand, while the carnivals of Southern Europe have been degraded by reckless sport; the word has acquired different associations in this country, and especially on this Coast. The Mardi Gras of San Francisco has been refined and pruned of the objectionable features that have vulgarized the New Orleans carnival. And the most dignified, most successful and most delightful entertainment ever given on this Coast was the Authors' Carnival, twice repeated at the interval of a twelvemont, held a few years ago in San Francisco for the benefit of the five leading charities of the city.

However, the naming of this nower festival properly belongs to the ladies and gentlemen who have so ably conceived and so happily carried it out, and it would ill become the public to do aught but acquiesce in, this whatever name they choose to call it. The suggestion in these columns was the prompting of an editor of a great daily, which reaches 200,000 readers, and this editor, who keeps a finger on the pulse of the public, and always considers what will be the most attractive, effective way of stirring it, said, with energy: "I hear some people calling this a floral festival. I hope you do not write it so; call it carnival. That is the word."

Turner had absented himself from the city, leav-ing behind him a number of unpaid bills, created considerable surprise among those who had heard so much through the local who had heard so much through the local press concerning the big man sent here by Mr. Cudaby to start an extensive hog ranch somewhere within the queenly borders of Orange county. A further investigation of the gentleman's actions during his stay of about two weeks in this city brings out the following story, as related to the reporter by an interested party: "Mr. Turner came to Santa Ana almost, if not quite three weeks are, at the same time reprethe following story, as related to the reporter by an interested party: "Mr. Turner came to Santa Ana almost, if not quite three weeks ago, at the same time representing that he had been sent here by Mr. Cudahy, of the Cudahy Packing Company, Los Angeles, for the purpose of going into the hog business on an extensive scale. He secured comfortable quarters at the Richelieu Hotel, and soon made the acquaintance of several of Santa Ana's enterprising real estate men, all of whom took an interest in showing the newcomer over the valley and county with a view to finding for him a piece of land suitable for the purpose for which he desired. Mrs. Turner seemed rather hard to suit, and it took a couple or more weeks riding around before he showed any sign of being, satisfied with what he had seen. He took the precaution, however, to say when he first came, that he did not propose to be in a hurry about making a selection of land, as he realized the necessity of making a careful and judicious purchase, in order that the best results might be obtained in the establishment of his new business. During this time he had not paid his board bill, and, as he delighted in a good Havana, his cigar bill, in the course of time, amounted to several dollars, all of which he politely requested charged to his account. By and by the real estate men came to believe that hewas not very anxious to purchase a ranch, and then the proprietor of the hotel manifested a desire to have a couple of weeks' board-bill collected. Then it was that he announced he would be cobliged to go to Los Angeles, and perhaps to Chicago, before a trade could be made, and that he would leave on the 5:28 Santa Fé train Saturday evening. He was to pay his bills, however, at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, but, instead of doing as he had promised, he went to Anaheim, and, as stated in The Times yesterday, boarded the neon Santa Fé train at that place.

"On Friday evening Mr. Turner had a meeting with several Santa Ana gentlemen, with whom he was planning to organize a s he had a number of friends in Chicago who would take a good share of stock in the company, and that he would go at once to that city and work up the company at that end of the line as soon as he got things in shape here. But before the gentlemen had nished their business Mr. Turner intimated that he was a little short of money, and that he might be obliged to ask the gentlemen to assist in bearing his expenses back to Chicago, until his money should arrive. This suggestion did not seem to meet with much encouragement with the Santa Ana gentlemen, so that the matter was dropped, and the next day (Saturday) he took his departure in the manner before described."

The draft referred to yesterday morning is still in the possession of A, F. Morton, the gentleman who drove Mr. Turner over to Anaheim. Mr. Morton says that it is 'sealed in an envelope, and that Mr. Turner requested that it be not forwarded for collection until Monday, as in the meantime he might be able to get the money of Mr. Wade in Los Angeles, in which event he would immediately send the amount necessary to square up his bills here. If he did not send the money from Los Angeles, then the draft was to be delivered to Mr. Cook and forwarded to Chicago for collection. The mail yesterday morning did not bring any money from Los Angeles from Mr. Turner, so the draft will be examined today. As yet the contents of the envelope are not known. The seal will be broken when delivered to the person to whom it is addressed. The draft referred to yesterday morning nas had one that, out the juty lathed to agree, and now he is to be given another chance. He does not deny not having paid a number of hotel and other bills, but takes refuge behind the admission and claims that he will, at some future time. When he can get the money, pay up all his debts. The hotel and boarding-house people of Santa Ana, Orange and Olive, however, do not like to take such irresponsible promises for the necessaries and luxuries of life which they have been induced to furnish him from time to time. The trial today will be a drawing card. Howes does not seem to be losting any flesh on the fare furnished him in Hotel de Buckley. He is not, however, of as musical a turn of mind now as he was last fall when he was eating porterhouse steaks and fried oysters (which he never paid for) at the Brunswick Hotel and singing "Oh, Promise Me!" in a rich, rare baritone voice.

CHIMS MILLER'S TALK.

About fifty men and boys assembled in Spurgeon's Hall Saturday evening to hear Chris Miller, the World's Fair pedestrian, give a brief recital of his trials and tribulations in a tramp along the southern boundary of the United States, and to witness a four-round exhibition with heavy gloves between Al Poole, Miller's traveling companion, and Ed Mosbaugh of this city. Miller's talk was interesting to those who delight in adventure, and the sparring exhibition was, at times, quite spirited. Poole outclassed Mosbaugh, but notwithstanding this fact the Santa Ana boy made the proceedings interesting for the traveler. Miller left this city at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning for Los Angeles, taking the line of the Southern Pacific Raitroad for his route.

Three peas (P. P. P.) represent Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are not like the old-fashioned pills. Bad to take, and bad to have taken. Inefficient, too. Try something better. With Pleasant Pellets the benefit is lasting. They cleanse and regulate the liver, stomach and bowels. Taken in time, they present trouble. In any case, they cure it. And they cure it easily; they're mild and gentle, but thorough and effective. There's no disturbance to the system, diet or occupation. One tiny, sugar-coated Fellet for a laxative—three for a cathartic. Sick and Eillous Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Billous Attacks, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels are promptly relieved and permanently cured.

They're purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, the smallest, and the easiest to take—but besides that, they're the cheapest pill you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get. This is true only of Dr. Pierce's medicines.

POMONA.

Five Young Men Arrested at Chino for Disturbing the Salvation Army. Edward O'Connor, Oscar Vickery, Joseph

Whyte, Richard Martin and Thomas Pierc are the names of five well-known Pomona young men who are in the clutches of the law for disturbing public worship. On Friday night the boys left Pomona and made for Chino, where some Salvation Army lassles were holding public worship. The boys say they were sitting serenely in the house, when some Chino came in, and became jealous of the Po mona boys musical voices, and respectfully informed them that if they did not "shut informed them that if they did not "shut up" they would be "sumptuously" fired. The Pomona boys were on their muscle, and doubted the ability of the Chino dudes to put them out of the house, and gave them the respectful information, "come outside and put us out." This invitation seemed to suit, all around, and it was promptly accepted. Now, the Pomona boys know how to wear "way up" collars, and look awful nice, but they were no match for the Chino dudes, who, in their idle moments, practice throwing sixty-pound sugar-beets into a beet wagon. The story is that the Chino boys "wiped up the earth" with the Pomona boys, and left them very much disfigured. A constable learned of the affair, and the five Pomona boys were taken before a justice, and before they could realize what had happened they were given six months in the San Bernardino Jail. This city is naturally much exercised over the affair, and some friends of the young men went to Chino Saturday morning and got a new trial, which was exercised over the affair, and some friends of the young men went to Chino Saturday morning and got a new trial, which was set for that afternoon. Pomona people claim the boys were not given a fair deal, and that the Chino boys are as much to blame as the others. The Salvation Army lassies claim that they were not disturbed in the least, but in that matter they are probably like the corps located in Pomona. This latter corps has had enough disturbances from some boys to send them to jail for a longer period, but the lassies will not consent to any arrests being made.

A telephone message received from Chino late Saturday evening said the boys could not get a new trial, and that a constable was on the road with them to the San Bernardino jail. An effort will be made to get a writ of habeas corpus to the Superior Court of San Bernardino.

It turns out that it was the Pomona corps of the young men went to Chino Saturday

LATER.—The five young men who were arrested at Chino and sentenced to six months in the San Bernardino Jall for disturbing the Salvation Army were taken to San Bernardino Saturday evening. P. C. Tonner, Esq., of this city took the evening train for San Bernardino and got all the boys except Vickery out of jail on a writ of habeas corpus. They gave bail in the sum of $500 each, and are to appear before the Superior Court of San Bernardino county on next Saturday. Much excitement has been caused by the sentence, and the Chino people are charged with having shown favor in not having the Chino boys arrested. It is claimed that the sentence is entirely too severe, as the army lasses state positively that the meeting was not disturbed in the least. Vickery could not give bail, and is still in jail. He is the same boy who recently got fifteen days in Los Angeles for disturbing the same army once before in Pomona. A Man Badly Wanted by the Police Again The wretch who fer some months past has at intervals been complained about for following young girls and making indecent proposals to small boys, has again been heard from. The man first came into notice from standing around several of the school buildings, and following the children when they started home. The matter was reported to Chief Glass, and an officer was detailed on the case. The fellow had evidently taken alarm, for he did not again sho up in his old haunts. Some time after evidently the same man attempted an assault on a boy, in which he was unsuccessful. The next heard of the brute was a vile assault on a small newsboy, near the corner of Tenth and newsboy, near the corner of Tenth and Pearl streets. The child was dragged through a barbed wire fence into a vacant lot, where the flend accomplished his purpose. The boy was detained for an hour or two, during which time his captor kept up a running talk, using the most obscene and vulgar language. Again he dropped out of sight, and notwithstanding the police department made every effort to capture the brute, not the slightest clew could be obtained. This last outrage occurred several months ago and nothing has been

eral months ago and nothing has been heard of the fiend since, until yesterday Between 2 and 3 o'clock as a boy of eleven years was passing north on 'Al-varado street, near the corner of Pico, on his way to the Westlake Park con-cert, he was suddenly accosted by a man who had evidently been secreted in the thick hedge which surrounds the property at that place. The man is described as being youthful in appearance, somewhere between 19 and 22 years of age, and rather stunted. His complexion was florid and badly freekled. He was neatly dressed, wearfreekled., He was neatly dressed, wearing a dark or black sack, coat, with grayish trowsers and a straw hat. He wore a gold watch chain to which was attached an open-faced watch, which he pulled from his pocket and consulted, apparently noting the time for the approach of the Pico street. car. He caught the boy by the hand and walked along with him on the side-walk for some distance. He then pulled him behind a tree, and still holding him by the hand, commenced plying him with questions as to where he lived, where he attended school, etc., at the same time fondling his face, and tried to intime fonding his face, and tried to induce him to go into an orange grove adjoining the street with him, saying he would give him some fruit. The boy, who was badly frightened, refused to go, when the fellow told him not broget too sassy," or he would keep him there. He continued fondling the boy's face, righting his nose, etc. and talling face, rubbing his nose, etc., and telling the boy to do the same. Finding that the youngster could not be induced to accompany him into the grove, he finally allowed him to depart. He did not offer any violence, nor did he make any indecent proposal, but merely fondled the boy about the face and head. On being released, the boy started off toward Westlake Park, and the man disappeared through the hedge. The boy was seen shortly after the occurrence, and when asked why he had made no outcry, said that he was too badly frightened. He said that he thought the man was crazy, and he did not know what he might do if he made him angry, and, as no violence was at-tempted, he thought best to say nothing, and make his escape as soon as possible. He says there were no people on the street when the man appeared, coming up be-hind him and taking hold of his hand, but that, while they were stand-ing on the sidewalk, two buggies drove An attempt was made by representatives by, in one of which were two little woman. He says the man was neat and clean in his appearance, and did not use any bad language. He is certain that he would be able to identify him, and when told that he was probably the man who had been committing outrages in the past gave a full and accurate de-scription of the fellow, and said that he world keep a look-out for him. The case has been reported at police headquarters, and another effort will be made to capture the flend. While no harm resulted yesterday, the fact that harm resulted yesterday, the fact that such a brute is at large is a standing menace to the peace and quiet of parents who have young children, especially girls, who attend the schools in the outer sections of the city and are compelled to pass through thinly-settled localities. A full and complete description of the man will be furnished the police today, when such steps will be taken by the authorities as it is believed will lead to the detection of the scoundrel. In the meantime children cannot-be too careful about permitting advances from strangers and accomadvances from strangers and accom-panying them to secluded spots. In case of suspicious actions the alarm should be promptly given. It is now over two years since the fellow first made his appearance, and it is time he was getting the just punishment which his crimes deserve.

months free of charge. The only favor asked is a recommendation from those whom they cure. They never publish the names of their patients. Being selected from the highest graded colleges on the continent, they represent the best medical and surgical training in the world. They treat all diseases and deformities; but if incurable they will tell you, as they will not accept your case. Remember the dates. All who visit the doctors before May 24 will receive services three months free of charge.

Hours: 10 to 12 a.m.; 2 to 7 p.m.; Sundays, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. 10 a.m. to 3 p m.
